

Franco Serblin Accordo Essence

LOUDSPEAKER
FLOORSTANDING LOUDSPEAKER

The Franco Serblin Accordo Essence floorstanding loudspeaker is a beautifully designed speaker with a unique and alluring sound. The three-way ported design sports a 29mm silk dome tweeter, a 150mm mid-range microsphere-coned drive unit, and a 180mm woofer. To control resonance, the speaker is constructed with a super-rigid, arch-shaped solid wood structure decoupled with aluminium-magnesium parts.

Quality, not quantity

The Accordo Essence has a sensitivity of 88dB and a minimum power output requirement of 20 Watts. We found it best to pair the speaker with 'quality, not quantity' (not 'powerful, but poor') amps. The speaker provides a smooth, mellow, warm sound that is (perhaps unsurprisingly) reminiscent of classic Sonus faber loudspeaker designs. It also offers a cohesive and balanced presentation with articulate and powerful bass.

In our test, the Accordo Essence excelled in reproducing orchestral music, delivering sound on a grand scale with a beautiful orchestral texture. It also creates a seamless and coherent sound. The speaker is not overly analytical but instead focuses on extracting the best from a piece of music and appealing to the actual music lover.

Overall, the Accordo Essence is a speaker that combines aesthetic beauty with exceptional sound quality. It offers a unique and pleasing listening experience, particularly for those who appreciate a warm and balanced sound. And it more than respects the name of the late great loudspeaker designer, Franco Serblin.
